Quantum Health Founder and CEO Receives Enterprising Women of the Year Award for 2008

Kara J. Trott Honored as a Top Entrepreneur

Columbus, Ohio – Kara J. Trott, CEO of Quantum Health, Inc. has been named a 2008 Enterprising Women of the Year award winner by Enterprising Women magazine.

The Enterprising Women of the Year awards honor the success of the nation's finest women entrepreneurs. Award winners must demonstrate that they have fast-growth businesses, mentor or actively support women involved in entrepreneurship, and stand out as leaders in their communities. Many are also leaders in key organizations that support the growth of women owned businesses. Trott was chosen from more than 400 entrants by a blue ribbon panel of judges.

Trott founded Quantum Health in 1999 and the company has grown rapidly ever since. The company's innovative Coordinated Health/Care™ program is a unique approach to health benefits management that has successfully held cost increases to about one-third the national average, saving employers and patients millions of dollars.

“Our award winners are accomplished entrepreneurs who have earned the respect and admiration of their communities,” said Monica Smiley, publisher and CEO of Enterprising Women magazine. “This award is a testament to Kara's remarkable accomplishments and we are proud to honor her business success.”

“I am so pleased to win this award, especially as it comes from entrepreneurs like myself, many of whom have faced the same challenges in their companies and met with the same success,” Trott said. I'm also proud of the honor it bestows on all of Quantum Health's associates whose dedication and hard work help so many people navigate through the confusing healthcare maze, every day. We look forward to continuing our important work on behalf of employers, and their employees and families, and for their physicians.”
